Two delightful parties

On Monday afternoon Misses Louise W. Davie, who was at home very informally in the fall of the old year, was the special guest, and that's why the house was very well filled for the party. The home of Misses Louise W. Davie was the location of some of the most beautiful and interesting parties of the season. Misses Louise W. Davie has a number of friends who are always there to welcome her, and on those occasions many a pleasant surprise was in store for her. The house was beautifully decorated, and the music was played by the W. H. Smith Orchestra. The party was a great success, and Misses Louise W. Davie and her friends were all delighted.
