Theme 1 – Small Farms Diversification (continued)

21 On-Farm Studies under Rural Agriculture Work Experience (RAWE) Education Programme in India – Some Results — R. K. Nanwal and K. P. Singh, CCS Haryana Agricultural University, Hisar – (Haryana) India..................................................................................................................(p. 80)

18 Relative Price Index—An Efficient Index for Comparing Integrated Farming System Models — K. P. Singh, K. K. Saxena, V. S. Kadian and S. N. Singh, Department of Agronomy, Chaundhary Charan Singh Haryana Agricultural University, Hisar, India..(p. 81)

19 Sustainability Approach for Comparison of Integrated Farming Systems Models Under Small Holder Situations — K. P. Singh, K. K. Saxena, S. N. Singh and V. S. Kadian, Department of Agronomy, Chaundhary Charan Singh Haryana Agricultural University, India.......................................................... (p. 82)

16 Impact of IVLP on Small Farm Diversification in Chhattisgarh — S. K. Taunk and M. A. Khan, Directorate of Extension Services, Indira Gandhi Agricultural University, Raipur, India .......................................................................................................................

17 Diversified Strategic Land Use System for Small Farm Holders Based on Rainwater Harvesting for Rainfed Rice Areas — Vivek Tripathi, A. L. Rathore, A. P. Singh and B. K. Gupta, Indira Gandhi Agricultural University, (Chhattisgarh), India.....................(p. 83)

22 Intercropping Sweet Corn with Legume Cover Crops: Its Effects on Corn Yield and Intercrop Contribution to the Productivity of Dry-Land Farming Systems in Lombok and Sumbawa, Indonesia — Ismail Yasin, I.G.M. Kusnarta Faculty of Agriculture, Mataram University, Mataram, NTB, Indonesia; Wayan Wangiyana, University of Western Sydney, NSW, Australia.......................... ..........

23 VAM Populations in Rice-Based Cropping Systems in Central Lombok, Indonesia — Wayan Wangiyana and Peter S. Cornish, University of Western Sydney, Hawkesbury Campus, NSW, Australia........................................................................................................(p. 84)

30 Sustainability Analysis of the Irrigated Vegetable Project at Banco Village, Mali — Joe Warnick, University of Florida, Gainesville, FL, USA; Dr. Peter Hildebrand and Dr. Nick Place, University of Florida, Gainesville, FL, USA............................................(p. 85)

Theme 2 – Engaging Stakeholders

25 Review of the Benefits and Costs of Flood Defence Options on the Somerset Levels and Moors — Joe Morris, Alison Bailey and David Gowing, Cranfield University, Silsoe, Bedfordshire, UK..................................................................................................................(p. 91)

28 Social Capital in the Semi-Arid (Sertão) of the State of Bahia: An Organizational Experience of Small Farmers in the Municipality of Valente — Humberto Miranda do Nascimento, State University of Campinas - UNICAMP.................................................................(p. 92)

26 Conflict in Human and Natural Resource Management: The Case of Saba Senegalensis in Southeastern Senegal — Paige G. Knutsen, Iowa State University, Ames, IA, USA..................................................................................................................(p. 94)