Theme 4 – Farming Systems Education (continued)

Poster No.

48 People and the Planet: Meeting the Challenges of the New Millennium
Interdisciplinary Ecology and Farming Systems at the University of Florida — Amy J. Sullivan, Victor Cabrera, Carlton Pomeroy and Norman Breuer, University of Florida, IFAS, Gainesville, FL, USA ................................................................. (p. 127)

49 University of Florida Extension International Training Program — Dr. Pete Vergot, University of Florida Extension, Gainesville, Florida, USA ................................................................. (p. 128)

51 Agri-Economics Training Course Improvement in Russia — Mark A. Wade, University of Florida, Fort Pierce, FL, USA; Rosa Nikolaevna Murtazaeva, Volgograd State Agricultural Academy, Volgograd, RU ................................................................. (p. 129)

52 Enhancing Farmer Knowledge in Nigeria: An Experience in Extension Program Development — Mark A. Wade, University of Florida, Fort Pierce, FL, USA; David H. Picha, Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, LA, USA ................................................................. (p. 130)

Theme 5 – Food Safety & Security

62 Development of the Model of Certification of Organic Food Products in Brazil — Renato Santos de Souza, Universidade de Santa Maria, Santa Maria, RS, BRAZIL; Flávia Muradas Bulhões, Secretaria da Agricultura e Abastecimento, Santa Maria, RS, Brazil ................................................................. (p. 133)

53 Relevance of Indigenous/Local Agricultural Knowledge: Its Importance in Food Security — Isabel A. Gutierrez-Montes and Edith Fernández-Baca, North Central Regional Center for Rural Development (NCRCRD), Iowa State University, Department of Sociology, Ames, Iowa, USA ................................................................. (p. 134)

55 Multi-Stakeholder Learning and Collective Action in Australia’s Pastoral Industries: Enhancing Ecological Sustainability and Food Safety through Environmental Certification across the Supply Chain — Christine King and Lester Pahl, The Department of Primary Industries, Toowoomba, Qld, AUSTRALIA ................................................................. (p. 135)

57 Citizen Panel on Genetically Modified Food Calls for Changes in the Food System — Stefan Seiter and Tom Kelly, University of New Hampshire, NH, USA ................................................................. (p. 137)

34 Utilization of Conventional Technologies by the Marginal and Small Tribal Farmers For Their Food Security — G. K. Shrivastava, R. Lakpale and M. L. Sharma, Indira Gandhi Agricultural University, Raipur, India ................................................................. (p. 138)

60 Losing Traditional Seed Management Systems: A Threat to Small Farmers’ Food Security in Nepal — N. P. Timsina, University of Reading, International and Rural Development Department, Reading United Kingdom; B. R. Upreti, King’s College London, School of Social Sciences and Public Policy, London ................................................................. (p. 139)