MANUFACTURED FALSEHOODS.

The editor of the banner of light over of Pine-street, says: "Manufacturers generally have a reputation for honesty. They are not known for their 'truth' in the way of the 'fish dealer'." "When the boy was asked for 'fish' and 'said he had none'..."

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Editor: It is a matter of fact that the banner of light over of Pine-street, says: "Manufacturers generally have a reputation for honesty..."

CURRENT COMMENT.

Some of the heaviest losses in the Florida race are met with tonight, including the loss of the water works. The water works question through—W. R. HARBER.

It is an account of the wet and dry season here in Marion county the local newspaper. Another fact is evident, that the colored vote line is almost solid for the wet ticket and constitutes the majority recorded in 1904.

Both the news and wood paper in Florida are now in a state of confusion. The news paper is in a state of confusion. The wood paper is in a state of confusion.

MAKING PIPE ORGAN.

Interesting Work That is Done in the Working Room. Both the news and wood paper in Florida are now in a state of confusion.

The most interesting piece of work in our factory is the making of pipe organs. The pipe organ is a very interesting piece of work.

Cooked Under Water. It is a fact that he would cook a plum pudding ten feet beneath the surface of the Thames near Rotterdam.

Bids Wanted.

The St. Lucie Ice Company will receive bids for furnishing cord wood. Address, T. J. O'Brien, secretary.

COOKED UNDER WATER.

It is a fact that he would cook a plum pudding ten feet beneath the surface of the Thames near Rotterdam. The bid was readily accepted, and many people looked to the appointed date to watch this strange exhibition of the culinary art.

The following interpretation of the weekly papers of the state is from the Times-Limit. Florida's broad-minded and well-rounded metropolitan daily, which has found contribution to the upbuilding of Florida's every national interest to a degree wholly beyond comparison.

The fifteen annual sessions of the Florida Confederate Veterans began in Jacksonville Wednesday and was attended by a number of the veterans and all of the commanding officers. In the parade through the streets of the city the historic old battle flags carried by the Florida regiments during the civil war were waved above the heads of the veterans.

If you have not already made up your mind as to how you intend the great Pine Knot Lumbering Co. to be near it, you should do so now. It will be a grand affair and Florida's annual event.

The Hastings county school has received a great deal of attention from the local press since the news that the local board of education has decided to purchase a new building.
