The Florida East Coast Railway Co. has been granted a temporary injunction by Judge James W. Locke, in the United States circuit court, to prevent the Model Land Company, the Boston and Atlantic Coast Land Company vs. N. B. Broward, as governor, et al. By the terms of the final decree the injunction applies only to the acts and proceedings of the defendants, who are the board of drainage commissioners and the several tax collectors in the counties composing the old drainage district, as under chapter 5377, of the laws of Florida. It does not apply, however, to acts and proceedings of the last legislature (1907) amending the old act.
