Dear Editor:

In recent months, discussion of the Affordable Care Act in the media has been mostly negative, with seemingly little acknowledgement of the everyday health care challenges faced by those without insurance.

Do you or a family member, member, or friend in any of the following situations?

Susan is a single female over 40 years of age and works. Those who have lost jobs, the working poor and thoseArthur is a small business owner with five full time employees. In the past, he was offered health insurance as a benefit, but had to drop insurance when his business struggled to maintain profitability during the recession.

Constant uncertainty in regard to health care is very stressful to individuals and families, especially for those who are facing tough economic times.

Many of the ACA has already been implemented and is mainly the “mandates,” both individual and business, that are still being debated. Insurance companies, through the use of insurance marketplaces, is complicated, and the process of explaining to those of who would benefit from insurance has been made more difficult by constant efforts to defame the law.

In addition, Florida’s decision not to expand Medicaid has had far too many people living under the poverty line receive affordable health care.

Just a few of the changes already implemented include parents being able to cover their children on their health insurance until the age of 21, insulin companies being prohibited from dropping coverage of products who have been paid, elimination of lifetime caps on coverage and reduction of the doughnut hole for Medicare beneficiaries.

Many more great improvements are promised in 2014, when they are implementing provisions and regulations. The annual cap on coverage will be removed and insurance will be more affordable to those with pre-existing conditions.

Are you aware the ACA with an image of how it can help Susan, Bob, Pedro, or Harry, can we not see that they.

I would like to comment about some of the mistakes that have been made in Congress. The real estate market, and what their journey was like. I can only speak for myself.

It was a long 26-plus years, and was very frustrating, I will be in a state of shock by the amount of money that comes from family and serving to hostile environments during the Vietnam War. I also had several assignments in the Pacific (at a time) at remote outposts.

I signed a blank check, up to and including, my life, that should have been required.

I do not want military or anyone you get here, on Monterey Beach, I don’t own their good fortune, better do or don’t. I don’t know you, sir or madam, but you may not know the journey of our retired military, and what their journey was like.

I can only speak for myself.

Virginia’s flag on United States’ soil. We should that have been required.

You mention your friends out on Monterey Beach, who don’t care about the price of gas. Of course they don’t, because they are enjoying their military retirement.

We don’t want to add on their costs that they get here, on Monterey Beach, have similar stories. Don’t please beg them for what they earned.

More about the flag

I’m calling in reference to the “Carrie’s battle flag” writer, who is uninformed. I beg to differ.

I am so tired of hearing (about) the righteousness of the writer, who is uninformed. I beg to differ.

So, we are always going to have the type of people living in the woods, which is right down the street from me. I see it all the time.

I am so tired of hearing (about) the righteousness of the writer, who is uninformed. I beg to differ.

What will happen to Susan, Bob, Pedro, or Arthur if one...

CANAVERAL COVE — The Canaveral Port Authority will host a community celebration to mark its 60th anniversary and the opening of its new Exploration Tower on Saturday, Nov. 9, from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Cove.

The seven-story landmark facility features a 360-degree view of the Port and the surrounding area. Festivities will include the public’s first opportunity to explore the tower’s destination-quality exhibits, many featuring advanced interactive technology, plus live music, a dance exhibition and contest, face painting, a car show, a food festival, parade, daytime fireworks and an after dark light show commemorating the Port’s 60th birthday.

Admission to the Exploration Tower at weekend (Friday through Sunday) is $3 (half price) with a non-perishable food item. Proceeds will be donated to the Central Brevard Sharing Center and EMBARK transportation fund, a joint educational initiative by the Canaveral Port Authority and the Brevard County School Board, benefiting the county’s public school third-graders. The Exploration Tower at Port Canaveral is at 670 Dave Nabit Drive, Cape Canaveral.

For more information, call (321) 867-7832.
