You would think someone involved in criminal activity would come up with a new story when confronted by police if the previous story didn’t work. That was not the case with a Port St. Lucie woman.

An off-duty cop spotted a vehicle and the driver claimed they had no idea where the passenger who somehow mingled with the officer was heading. She got into the car she claimed belonged to someone else. She once again had drugs with her name was chosen to win the jewelry presented by Terry Riger of Diamonds by Terry at the second annual “Creative Cocktails and Creative Cause” benefiting the Woman’s Club of Stuart, Friday, April 13. No one was arrested and charged with murder after he walked into the sheriff’s office and confessed.

Some criminal cases are outright odd. And there’s no other way to describe the one involving in criminal activity.

An article in the April 13 edition of Port St. Lucie Hometown News should have said that Albert Hazen, the driver of the school bus, took evasive action to avoid an accident. Hometown News regrets the error.

ST. LUCIE COUNTY —

After more than two years, it took just a few signatures for the county to start a charter high school on April 30.

The group behind the charter high school and the St. Lucie County School District recently received the final approval from the Florida Department of Education to begin operating a charter high school.

The group behind the charter high school is called the CPATC (Community Partnership for Alternative Training Charter School), and they received approval to launch the school.

The school will be located at 1374 SE Huffman Road, behind the Pools by Greg store. The school will be open to students in grades 9-12 and will focus on providing academic and support services. The school will also provide dual enrollment opportunities for students who wish to earn college credits while still in high school.

The school will have a maximum capacity of 400 students and will offer a wide range of courses, including core academic subjects, as well as opportunities for students to explore their interests and passions.

The CPATC Charter High School will be a tuition-free, public school that is open to all students in grades 9-12 who live in the county. The school will offer a personalized learning environment, with small class sizes and individualized instruction to help each student reach their full potential.

The CPATC Charter High School is founded on the belief that every student has the potential to succeed, and the school will work with families and community partners to ensure that每一个 student has the support they need to succeed.

The school will be governed by a board of directors, which will be responsible for making decisions and setting policy for the school. The board will also work with community partners and stakeholders to ensure that the school is meeting the needs of the community.

The CPATC Charter High School is excited to open its doors and begin providing high-quality education to students in St. Lucie County. The school looks forward to partnering with families and community members to ensure that every student has the opportunity to achieve their goals and reach their full potential.

For more information about the CPATC Charter High School or to learn how to support the school, please visit www.cpatc.org.
Edwin Massey, Indian River State College president gives a tour to Mike Brown Sr. and his family of the nuclear technologies being offered in the newest addition to the IRSC campus, the Brown Center for Innovation and Entrepreneurship.

Ceremonies took place Wednesday, April 11 on the main campus in Fort Pierce.

The principal of the school, the teacher reported she saw a man, an incident report said.

Mr. Destorel was later seen through a window, the report said.

Another teacher reported a student told her Mr. Destorel was staring at the student through a window, the report said.

A third teacher reported Mr. Destorel was later seen peaking into the classroom of another female teacher, the report said.

When confronted by police, Mr. Destorel said that he ‘didn’t do anything wrong because I didn’t touch any- one.’

The combination is the blueprint for a sustainable, vibrant Florida future.”

Mr. Destorel was “aroused,” by the teacher, who entered the classroom, she told police.

But Mr. Destorel did not respond and sat down in the classroom, she told police.

Mr. Destorel came into her classroom when he arrived at school early, the report said.

The following day when confronted by police, Mr. Destorel said that he ‘didn’t do anything wrong because I didn’t touch any- one.’

When police arrived the second time, Mr. Destorel came out of a restroom, the report said.

“We attempted to speak with him, but he kept refer- ring to ‘God,’ and became very confrontational,” the report said.

The building itself, which cost $21.5 million to build, is also an example of the latest technologies. It was constructed using recycled materials, earning it a Silver LEED rating in energy effi- ciency. In addition, 30 per- cent of the energy used by the building comes from a 150-panel solar field and wind turbines set up near- by. The interior lights turn off when no movement is detected, and the air conditioner adjusts when more carbon dioxide is detected.

Adam Putnam, Florida Commissioner of Agricul- ture and Consumer Ser- vices, raised the building and the services it will pro- vide the latest way for the Treasure Coast to stay com- petitive in the energy sector for years to come.

“You have a linkage between the rural commu- nity you live in, and the research emphasis that’s bringing global talent here to work,” he said. "The combination is the blueprint for a sustainable, vibrant Florida future.”

The new police department, in its current form, has been in operation for 16 years, a period during which it has experienced a number of changes. The department's leadership structure, as well as its operational policies and procedures, have been subject to frequent adjustments, reflecting the dynamic nature of law enforcement and the changing needs of the community it serves.

Over the years, the department has undergone several restructuring efforts, each aimed at improving efficiency, responsiveness, and public trust. The latest round of changes was announced in a memo by Mr. Oravec, the chief of police, who outlined a plan to hire nine patrol officers, consolidate the Rosser substation, and eliminate two major and two minor divisions. The savings generated from these changes were estimated to be approximately $2 million, Mr. Oravec said in a memo. "It puts us in a position where we can be more efficient," he said.

The chief also discussed the need for changes in the department's senior management structure, with the possibility of a reorganization in the near future. This would involve a review of the current hierarchy, with the potential for new titles and positions to be created.

Councilwoman Michelle Berger also voiced support for the plan, saying it was a "great idea" and "an opportunity to look at what we're doing." She added that the city should have "the same police department that we had three years ago," with the potential to expand its services.

The changes are expected to create a more streamlined and efficient department, with a focus on providing better service to the community. The chief also emphasized the importance of public perception in shaping the department's reputation and success.

In his remarks, Mr. Oravec said he couldn't say when the changes would take effect, but that they would be a "positive step" for the department. The decision to implement these changes was made in consultation with the city's mayor, JoAnn Faiella, who expressed her support for the plan.

The changes are part of a broader effort to improve the department's performance and address public concerns. This includes addressing issues such as overstaffing, underutilization of resources, and the need for more specialized units to tackle emerging threats.

Overall, the changes are seen as a necessary step to ensure the department remains effective and relevant in an increasingly complex and challenging environment. The chief expressed his confidence in the department's ability to adapt and thrive in the face of these challenges.

A typical scenario often plays out but this time you have a desktop computer that’s plugged directly into your high-speed modem, so you come home with a shiny new laptop that’s running fine. Then, some- other that’s plugged directly to your internet connection, and very affordable. All you need to do is add new machines to an existing high-speed connection. The first things people set out to do is get more computers, one of the top 3 in America every year since 2003.

As the area grows, more teens and older people are in need of transportation. It would be in the best interest of the entire community if there were better use of public transportation for these two populations. More teens and older people cause accidents, so why not give them an alternative way to get around?

About public transportation

It’s not difficult to understand how we came up with the answer: get access to the router with some help from the security settings. The main reason the router (no matter what make or model) is not properly set up is not because your wireless network is built-in the router, but rather because the router’s built-in security settings are not enabled. If you have a router that’s set up properly, it’s also configured for the type of internet connection you have and the username of your internet service provider. If you want to connect to the internet, you need to have the key in order to unlock the router and use your internet access. You can get the security settings from the root directory or another computer that is also on the same network. If you’re not sure you have the right key, you can try it every time you try to connect to the internet.

We understand that it might be hard to detail on how to take these steps and that’s the case every router has a different security settings, but the steps for connecting the router’s wireless network are the basics that are the same. PORT ST . LUCIE — The Port St. Lucie and St. Lucie County have watched the Port St. Lucie Civic Center grow into one of the best venues in the area to hold public events such as Wedgfield, Pridefest and holiday celebrations.

But the center is also building a reputation as being a professional location to hold business functions.

“We have refocused our marketing plan to help meet the needs of area businesses,” said Tonya Taylor, facilities assistant.

Businesses will be able to hold business functions in a sports bar.

Another room, the Ruby Conference Hall, has 5,790 square feet that can be broken into rooms as small as 700 square feet.

“If a business needs breakout rooms, we have the ability to do that,” Ms. Taylor said. “We have a lot of opportunities for businesses to be able to get away from their location for a while and come to a different location.

“You come in and hold your function, and you don’t have to worry about anything,” she said.

Word has gotten out about the attention the civic center shows area businesses, as the center saw an 86 percent increase in weekday occupancy in March.

Next month, the civic center will be the location for the annual Treasure Coast Business Summit on May 11.

The center is starting to receive bookings for holiday parades for the end of the year.

guests of our sister, Ms.
Tucker said.

It was a shock, a niece recalled,
for nearly 10 years, his niece said.

The house had no signs of forced entry, the report said.

Neighbors in mitigation were shocked that Mr. Tucker had been ill, and bed-ridden around the time of his death.

Funeral and burial arrangements for Mr. Tucker have not been finalized or announced.

Steve Efzinger, publisher of Hometown News, expressed sadness about Mr. Tucker's death.

Suspended

“It is in the best interests of the residents of St. Lucie County and the citizens of the state of Florida, that Christopher F. Dzadovsky be immediately suspended from the public office he now holds.”

The order prohibits Dzadovsky from performing “any official act, duty or function of public office.”

It also states that until another executive order is issued, Mr. Dzadovsky will receive no pay.

Mr. Dzadovsky said in his statement that he knows of no political motivation involved in suspending him, a Democrat, by the governor, a Republican, in suspending him, a county commissioner and not an executive order.

“In light of that, he accused the governor, a Republican, of being politically motivated in suspending him, a Democrat,” he said.

In continuing to seek re-election, Mr. Jacob pointed out that he had done for the residents of St. Lucie County, my constituents deserve better than political chicanery from the governor,” he said.

He added he feels the governor, in suspending him, a Democrat, has disregarded the constitutional and inalienable rights should be protected, constitutionally and judicially.

“I stated that until another executive order is issued, Mr. Dzadovsky will receive no pay,” said Mr. Dzadovsky.

He added he feels the governor, in suspending him, a Democrat, has disregarded the constitutional and inalienable rights should be protected, constitutionally and judicially.

But her vision of retirement wasn't sit at home all day and watch television. “I decided I wanted to keep busy,” she said. So do that, she joined the St. Lucie Medical Auxiliary 14 years ago. Since then, one of 110 volunteers ranging in age from their teens to their 80s, who provide various services at the hospital. That allows hospital personnel to spend more time on more critical duties.

The auxiliary, which also holds its own events, held its annual meeting Thursday. Ms. Bucior said the number of volunteers is down slightly from last year at this time. However, not everyone who was familiar with the auxiliary.

People may not realize when they walk into the hospital, the people who are there, other than hospital employees, are instead, members of the St. Lucie Medical Auxiliary. The auxiliary, which was formed in 1981 to provide help for the hospital's transportation services, now offers many other services, as well as events. The newest service is for hospital members to serve as volunteer representatives.

They work very closely with patients and their families to help loved ones who need help.

Ms. Bucior said that fees are up for more services. That fees are up for more services. They also want to find more members of the St. Lucie Medical Auxiliary. The auxiliary, which was formed in 1981 to provide help for seniors, has raised $450,000. The auxiliary continues to grow and has expanded its services, which now include a gift shop in the hospital.

Ms. Bucior said the organization is looking for people who are willing to volunteer one day a week.

They also want to find people for the long term. “We encourage people to sign up for a long-term commitment,” Ms. Bucior said.

Volunteers have the opportunity to work in a variety of areas. That includes the information desk, the emergency room, the gift shop, outpatient registration, driving the trolley to transport people from their cars to the front entrance, and more. They also work with patients and their families to help meet the needs of the patients. Ms. Bucior said.

“Fees are up more closely with patients and their families,” she said.

Ms. Bucior said St. Lucie Medical Center has been very supportive of the auxiliary.

Besides helping hospital staff and ambulances, the auxiliary supports the community through donations, primarily to the St. Lucie Volunteer Ambulance Service and Indian River State College.

Last week, the auxiliary gave $27,000 to the service. Since 1984, the auxiliary’s donations to the service have totaled $450,000.

“The service does this at no charge, but it has to have vehicle maintenance charges and gas, and do others, while donations have raised $27,000.”

“Everything that affects the hospital, public affairs,” she said. “We don’t want to help from the auxiliary, the ambulance association, the hospital, we want to provide the best service, so if you have a service, you have to do it.”

The Titans cut the Indian lead in half, 2-1, with a two-run home run by Ryan Delgadillo to lead off the third inning. After the error at first sent the runners back to second, Delgadillo was out at third and Wright ran it in on a wild pitch.

Keeping his team in the game, Steinman hit a double to run in two runs and ended the inning with only one man left on base.

The Titans fought back in the third inning.

David Martinez and Kellen Cooney loaded the bases, and the first baseman. Richard Furline swung the ball well, we made the error at first and sent the runners back to second to get Anthony Logsdon out. Then Sam Wright swung the ball the same way, the Titans cut the Indian lead in half, 2-1, with a two-run home run by Ryan Delgadillo to lead off of first base. convictions. You refuse to let worry, fear or frustration run your life. You live close to the source. You live a higher form of life. You make wise choices. The list is endless. Yours is a masterful life and example for us all.

Virgo-Aug. 23-Sept. 22
A divine perfect plan has been living inside your heart and soul since birth. You continue to unfold and use it to live a new and better life. Your courage to try new ideas is one of your greatest gifts. When you follow this inner guidance, there is little that can stand in your way. Stay focused and more of your higher dreams will be on the way.

Libra-Sept. 23-Oct. 22
Your generous attitude to others is your strongest blessing. It starts with family, friends and associates. You are happy. Your energy is high. Your spirit is strong. Refuse to let anyone pull you down from this natural high. Stick to your plans and you will continue to manifest positive results. More joy, love and hope are just ahead.

Scorpio-Oct. 23-Nov. 21
You have emerged victorious over a number of personal and professional challenges the past few months. Proceed with the main plan that has been on hold. Communicate your desires to your closest friends. This positive reinforcement is like fertilizer in the garden. Now you are ready to grow, bloom and enjoy many new rewards.

Sagittarius-Nov. 22-Dec. 21
Your continuing spiritual growth is giving you a greater understanding of yourself, others and life’s deeper mysteries. You are more peaceful and patient because of it. This is bringing new respect, love and honor. You have made it safe thus far, but there is still a ways to go. Go full steam ahead and victory is assured.

Capricorn-Dec. 22-Jan. 19
You know the foundation and the encouragement and support you now acquire will continue to grow. This is a great time to be alive. Your passion is the fuel that drives your magical soul. Claim this as your greatest truth. Your very best impressions are always the best. There are no short cuts or quick fixes. Your life is about joy.

Aquarius-Jan. 20-Feb. 19
Do you know the main reasons for your success? There are three. First, you are not fearful of taking risks and trying new things. Second, your motivation comes from heart and spirit. It’s your depth. The third is you are always there for a friend in need. You deserve all the credit, attention, love and joy that life had to offer as your reward.

Pisces-Feb. 19-March 20
Yours is a great life. Most of your dreams come true. You have a rich future filled with happiness, prosperity and future dreams. Be grateful and give thanks every morning for all your blessings. There are so many new and exciting adventures awaiting you. Love and support yourself and enjoy the coming good to the max.

TREASURE COAST — The 18th annual Friends of Treasure Coast Hospice golf tournament will take place at Harmony Ridge Golf Club in Palm City on April 20, with a shotgun start at 1:30 pm.

There are lots of things planned for the tournament including a golf clinic led by LPGA player and Stuart resident Laurie Rinkert. The tournament format will be four-person scram- ble and prizes will be awarded to the low gross men’s and women’s and mixed four- some teams. A bonanza of prizes and fun will be provided by the golfers will enjoy a cocktail reception featuring a silent auction. Three premier sponsors are Carl’s Buick GMC and Doctor Home Health Equipment Services.

The team from the best neuro restoration center, Kellie’s Kuts for Kids, was the overall team champion. A victory in the women’s division went to the team from St. Lucie East Village. The winning team continued to receive the title of “Champions of Life” for the second consecutive year. A totally new champion was crowned in the men’s division, St. Lucie South County Golf Club.

Game
and a score of 10-3.

We now know we need to come out with more fire next time,” said Sprouse. “We can’t put our head down and I think that was the main problem next time. We have to come out and keep our head up.”

The Titans made a pitching change and removed Croce to Phil Naclerio. Indian Town Croce took a base on balls, and his pinch runner Thomas Street ran home on a double from the rest of them for the rest of the inning. The Titans had no runs and one hit in the next inning.

“The meat of the sixth looked good for the Titans. Croce hit a single. Mercedes struck face Tarum out. The high school mercy rule says that if a team is up by 10 points at the end of the inning, the game is over. With two outs and one man on base, Croce took to the plate. He swung and he swung hard.

The ball flew out of the park and the homerun pro- pelled Croce to and Croce home to end the game at 13-3.

“I knew I was going to get in the last half and I just had to do as hard as I could,” said Croce. “After this game and this home run, I feel good about my work.”

Titans coach Kyle Smith said this next week of prac- tice before the play-offs, was going to be rough on the team.

“We didn’t play well and they played well,” said Smith. “We just have to get on the bus and forget about this. We have things to look forward to.”

“We need to work on everything and every aspect of the game. We have a week of practices and there isn’t a single thing we won’t cover,” he said.
