SUBSCRIPTION--ONE DOLLAR PER ANNUM IN ADVANCE.
THE PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.
Adams T. Bidwell.
The recent action of the Assembly in passing the amendment which will apportion the senatorial districts is a step forward in the progress of the state, and one which is destined to make a lasting impression on the political life of Wisconsin. It is a step which will do much to bring about that harmony and cooperation which is necessary for the better government of the state. It is a step which will do much to bring about that equality of representation which is necessary for the better government of the state.

The Committee has arranged for the following:

1. Each white school in the county shall be treated as a unit, and the votes of the people below the county line shall be counted as the votes of the people in the county. This will give the county a fair representation in the state legislature.

2. The county shall be divided into senatorial districts, and the votes of the people in each district shall be counted as the votes of the people in that district. This will give the people of each district a fair representation in the state legislature.

3. The county shall be divided into districts, and the votes of the people in each district shall be counted as the votes of the people in that district. This will give the people of each district a fair representation in the state legislature.

FOURTH OF JULY COMMEMORATION.

Having invited to the subcommittee of the Indiana State Land Board to examine the borders of the state, the Indiana State Land Board finally decided to purchase the land from the State of Indiana and to use it for the benefit of the public.

The purchase of the land was made after careful consideration of the facts, and it was thought that the land would be of great benefit to the people of this state.

The sale of the land was made on a credit plan, and the money was received in full. This has enabled the state to carry out its plans for the development of the land.
