Tennis Team Back Home

The Barbados tennis team which competed in the joint British-Caribbean Tennis Olympics in Trinidad last week, is now back in the islands.

The team was captained by Peter Brathwaite, with the members being Barbara Brathwaite, Bridgette Brathwaite, Diana Close, Evadine Hunte, Helen Hunte, John Hunte and Rossel Wiltshire.

The team had a difficult time in the tournament, losing in the first round of singles to the Trinidad team of Charles Cross and Betty Peart.

A giant tyre for gruelling conditions.

THE MICHELIN TYRE

Are We Nearing The End Of Big Money Transfers?

By Peter Bitton

UNITED KINGDOM

£100,000 is a lot of money in any language. Even in touche-d Britain it would allow two or three capitalised families to live in luxury for life. It would buy about 13 Rolls-Royce cars. Or it would pay the fees of ten professional footballers!

It was one of the more unusual deals to hit the press recently. Gomes, placing two Trinidadlan: in the Singles Championships. The Unlimited Tennis Association had even higher stakes in mind for it featured in the Barbados Minister's Statement on the Highest Bidder for the Intercoloni.

The Ministry of Education, Science and Techology had offered $10,000 for two Barbados players, who were to be involved in the Intercoloni in Barbados early next year.

The Ministry had approached the Unlimited
Tennis Association with a view to involving Trini-dadan players in the Intercoloni. The Unlimited Tennis Association had agreed to the proposal,
provided the players involved were Barbados
players. The Ministry had then agreed to pay $10,000 for the players involved.

The Ministry had then approached the Unlimited
Tennis Association with a view to involving Trini-
dadan players in the Intercoloni. The Unlimited
Tennis Association had agreed to the proposal,
provided the players involved were Barbados
players. The Ministry had then agreed to pay $10,000 for the players involved.

The Ministry had then approached the Unlimited
Tennis Association with a view to involving Trini-
dadan players in the Intercoloni. The Unlimited
Tennis Association had agreed to the proposal,
provided the players involved were Barbados
players. The Ministry had then agreed to pay $10,000 for the players involved.

The Ministry had then approached the Unlimited
Tennis Association with a view to involving Trini-
dadan players in the Intercoloni. The Unlimited
Tennis Association had agreed to the proposal,
provided the players involved were Barbados
players. The Ministry had then agreed to pay $10,000 for the players involved.

The Ministry had then approached the Unlimited
Tennis Association with a view to involving Trini-
dadan players in the Intercoloni. The Unlimited
Tennis Association had agreed to the proposal,
provided the players involved were Barbados
players. The Ministry had then agreed to pay $10,000 for the players involved.

The Ministry had then approached the Unlimited
Tennis Association with a view to involving Trini-
dadan players in the Intercoloni. The Unlimited
Tennis Association had agreed to the proposal,
provided the players involved were Barbados
players. The Ministry had then agreed to pay $10,000 for the players involved.

The Ministry had then approached the Unlimited
Tennis Association with a view to involving Trini-
dadan players in the Intercoloni. The Unlimited
Tennis Association had agreed to the proposal,
provided the players involved were Barbados
players. The Ministry had then agreed to pay $10,000 for the players involved.

The Ministry had then approached the Unlimited
Tennis Association with a view to involving Trini-
dadan players in the Intercoloni. The Unlimited
Tennis Association had agreed to the proposal,
provided the players involved were Barbados
players. The Ministry had then agreed to pay $10,000 for the players involved.