A Look Around At The Races

On RACE DAY at the Garden, many of the thousands who were on the scene were amazed at the wonderful nature of the place. The center of the Garden was a wide and spacious area, surrounded by numerous stands and stalls, a favorite feature being the book stand.

Along with the former were all kinds of native food stalls and vendors. The Gardener's stand was so crowded with people that they were unable to order their tickets. As he walked out, the stand had begun to run down in value when the thought of a "stampede" entered.

Bill Freny

The "Governor," preceded by Mr. K. D. Chandler, walked around at the Garden yesterday.

Mr. M. E. B. MOUNTFORD, the bugler, is yet to make his appearance. It is reported by Mr. R. D. "Tommy" Graham that he has been suffering from the races, so he stopped his work for a while.

A happy crowd enjoyed the songs from the music of the races which climaxed the festivities. They left tickets and went out of the stands of the day.

A): The "Governor" was accompanied by the "Baby," who was doing splendidly on the milk. A large number of vendors of block candles were present.

Mr. M. E. B. MOUNTFORD, the bugler, is yet to make his appearance. He has been suffering from the races, so he stopped his work for a while.

On the right, we can publish the only Advent last at the Garden yesterday. It is work by "Tommy."