Lace on Her Petticoat!

LONDON, Jan. 15.

In practice, lace-up is very much in the air. However, this is a departure from the past in terms of fashion. The trend is now towards lace-up, which was popular in the 1920s and 1930s, but has resurfaced in recent years. The lace-up trend is evident in various forms, from simple lace-up details to full lace-up garments.

Another fashion trend has been the return of the slip, which was popular in the 1930s. The slip has been updated for modern wear, with lace-up details and other embellishments. This trend is evident in various garments, from simple slips to more intricate designs.

A tiny slip embroidered edge skirt, with it is noticed for its lyric attractive style is being made up in the softer line the trumpet skirt. Gentle, pleated with season collections. Lingerie trimming. Lace on her Petticoat. It is confirmed again in Paris, and not incorrectly cut and boned tops. The boned strapless bodice, on the other hand, is widely worn in evening gowns. The line of the lilted and belted folds from a boat-shaped yoke, and the dress is made in turquoise. A dragon motif was current among day clothes we have seen recently for pyjamas in par- correct state with all details.
