Mr. Barrowshad, a wood-merchant, is said to have been the "principal victim" of the raid, which took place at睌 in Clapham Road, with some 30 others being arrested. He said that the raid was the result of a misunderstanding, and that he would do anything to avoid the situation in the future. He added that he would do everything to save his life and would therefore under the circumstances be content with any legal remedy.

In British Guiana, the firemen who refuse to continue work were in barracks and other places. (4)

Cheaper Food

Mr. Werner Grossman said that the bread was very much appreciated by the Workmen's* Union, although the price was not so cheap as in Trinidad. He also said that the bread was very much appreciated by the Workmen's* Union, although the price was not so cheap as in Trinidad.
