U.S. Jets Flew Over Prague

The United States Air Force flew unidentified reconnaissance missions over Prague on February 15, 1953, a few days after the United States Secretary of State, Dean Acheson, declared that the United States would take appropriate measures to support free institutions in Europe. The flights were part of a larger effort by the United States to demonstrate its commitment to preventing the spread of communism in Europe.

Case Against Red Leader Dropped

The Red Free Speech Theater in New York City has been closed by the federal government. The closure was ordered by the U.S. Court of Appeals, which ruled that the theater was violating federal mail and wire communication laws.
