Reds Hit Back At U.N. Troops

Open Sluice Gates To Halt U.N. Drive

TOKYO, June 8.

THE COMMUNISTS hit back hard at the United Nations Troops advancing today on Chorwon, one of the bastions of the Communist "iron tri-angle" in North Korea. They had to halt the United Nations' drive by opening the sluice gates of the Chorwon reservoir.

Pyongyang, 10 miles further north, is the apex of the tri-angle with Kumhwa as the other bastion. The Allies now hold an important peak southwest of Ynnggu.
