Major Foster Raises
A Farm—At Glendairy

Major A. B. Foster who was honored by the King in the New Year Honours list with the award of M.B.E., is not only interested in sport, but in horticulture and stock raising. He told the Advocate yesterday that these were his hobbies from boyhood days. He is on the Committee of Management of the Barbados Poultry Association.

C.J. Grants
Petitions

HIS HONOUR the Chief Judge, Mr. Justice M. B. F. Cottle, has granted three petitions yesterday in the Divorce Court.

K.3 For Spreading

A plot of 93 and 6 cents or 1,920 square feet, situated on Wellington Road in Bridgetown, were advertised yesterday in the Times. The plot is for sale at the sum of $500.

The idea of these two projects was to provide a small kitchen garden both of which are suitable for the needs of international air traffic. The project was started in the same year, he started the project in 1972.

New Design
For Aerodromes

A pipe to the efficient design of modern fuel and water supply systems for the needs of international air traffic is contained in the International Civil Aviation Organization's international standards and recommended practices and is now in effect. This document, prepared by the Executive Committee of the International Civil Aviation Organization, presents the physical and associated characteristics and equipment which aerodromes used by aircraft engaged in international air navigation shall have.

Annex 13 will provide additional information on the subject. These standards and recommended practices, which are now Annex 13 to the Convention on International Civil Aviation, provide for the physical and associated characteristics and equipment which aerodromes used by aircraft engaged in international air navigation shall have.
