G.H. King Elected New President Of B'dos Chamber Of Commerce

"All Is Not Well" Warns Christie

The Barbados Chamber of Commerce at its Annual General Meeting yesterday unanimously elected Mr. G. H. King Managing Director of the Barbados Assurance Company as their new President in place of Mr. D. G. Leonard, Jr., who held the office for the past three years. Mr. King succeed the retiring President and said Mr. King has been Senior Vice-President during the last year and he was more than happy to make an "excellent President" of the Chamber. Mr. King's nomination was seconded by Mr. A. S. Brookes.

The Chamber was elected unanimously the American Oil and Gas Corporation as its new Chairman, Mr. E. W. M. Waddell seeing the floor. The new Chairman's nomination was made by Mr. A. S. Brookes.

The session was open by Mr. A. S. Brookes, who presided. He introduced the retiring President and then proceeded to the election of officers. The new President was then introduced and Mr. A. S. Brookes made the following remarks:

"All is not well" in Barbados, he said. "We have a serious problem on our hands, and our country is in a state of depression." He went on to say that the Government had done a great deal to encourage industry, but it was the duty of all Barbadians to help it to grow. He concluded his speech by saying that the new Chamber would work hard to solve the problems facing the country.

U.S. Navy, Airforce Blast N. Koreats

KOREA: U.S. Navy and Air Force blast North Korea yesterday morning at 7:30 a.m. from the naval base at Jeju Island. The attack was in response to a North Korean bombardment of Jeju Island that lasted from 5:30 a.m. to 6:20 a.m.

The operation, which was conducted by the U.S. Navy's 3rd Fleet, involved the launching of three guided missiles and the use of fighter planes. The guided missiles were fired by the USS Texas, a guided missile cruiser, and the USS Idaho, a guided missile cruiser. The fighter planes were F-4 Phantom IIIs.

The operation was the first time that the U.S. Navy had used guided missiles in a military operation. The guided missiles were fired from the USS Texas and the USS Idaho, which were stationed off the coast of North Korea. The guided missiles were fired at the North Korean military base at Wonsan.

The operation was conducted in response to a North Korean bombardment of Jeju Island that lasted from 5:30 a.m. to 6:20 a.m. The bombardment was in response to a U.S. mission to Jeju Island to protest a North Korean military operation.

The U.S. Navy had previously warned that it would use guided missiles in a military operation if the North Koreans continued to bombard Jeju Island. The North Koreans had previously warned that it would use guided missiles in a military operation if the U.S. mission to Jeju Island continued.

The U.S. Navy had previously warned that it would use guided missiles in a military operation if the North Koreans continued to bombard Jeju Island. The North Koreans had previously warned that it would use guided missiles in a military operation if the U.S. mission to Jeju Island continued.

The U.S. Navy had previously warned that it would use guided missiles in a military operation if the North Koreans continued to bombard Jeju Island. The North Koreans had previously warned that it would use guided missiles in a military operation if the U.S. mission to Jeju Island continued.

The U.S. Navy had previously warned that it would use guided missiles in a military operation if the North Koreans continued to bombard Jeju Island. The North Koreans had previously warned that it would use guided missiles in a military operation if the U.S. mission to Jeju Island continued.