City likes first look at plans for senior housing

By TOM GERBROD

LARGO—City officials will negotiate a development agreement with a real estate firm to build 153 senior housing units on property that once housed the Primrose Nursing Home. The 3.6-acre site, located on the northeast corner of 13th Street and Ulmerton road, is the largest property in the area that isn’t already zoned for senior housing. The project will require an amendment to the Comprehensive Plan and a change in the zoning classification. A public hearing has been scheduled for March 12 with a decision expected in April. As of Feb. 5, five routes of Pinellas SunCrest Transit Authority’s Route 59, 67 and 79 are adjusting to a new schedule due to a budget shortfall, so riders and riders will experience longer wait times and rides. The agency’s Google Trip Planner located at www.PSTA.net by using form at www.PSTA.net. Riders also can plan their trip at www.PSTA.net by using the scheduled adjustments will provide riders with more accurate and reliable times.

MADEIRA BEACH – St. Petersburg City Manager Jim Madden hired Frank Crawford on Dec. 7 to fill the city manager position vacated by Shirley. Crawford volunteered to return to the city where he worked from 1999 to 2008, but resided in Dunedin for six years since then. Crawford lives in Madeira Beach, Dunedin, and has moved six times within the city.

Utility undergrounding not a barrel, residents say

HILBARK ROAD – Undergrounding of utilities in Hillsborough County would be a锦de to residents in the area. Utility representatives at a well-attended information session held at Jefferson High School on March 15 said the process is a cost-effective solution for improving the reliability and efficiency of the public electrical system.

Pedestrian dies following accident

LARGO — A pedestrian died shortly after a vehicle struck him as he was crossing Keene Road Feb. 2.

The Largo Police Department responded to the accident at 6:45 p.m. Feb. 2. The pedestrian, Patrick Davis, 75, was crossing Keene Road northbound.

The vehicle, a 2018 Toyota, was stopped at the intersection of Keene Road and Roberts Street, which is between East Bay Drive and its south extension.

Largo Fire Rescue arrived at Davis, and he was transport- ed to Largo Medical Center, where he was pronounced dead a short time later.

Police and Fire Rescue personnel worked at the scene for several hours, which caused temporary confusion on Keene Road.

The investigation continues. Davis had been walking the streets in the area for several days.

Child in parental abduction case found and returned

CLEARWATER — A child was removed Feb. 3 from a parental ab- duction, according to a Clearwater police Facebook report. The depart- ment’s crimes against children and family detective received information that a suspect wanted in a parental abduction was in Jacksonville, the report said. Detectives traveled to Jacksonville where they worked with the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office and U.S. immigrat- ions and Customs Enforcement to arrest the suspect, Ritz Sana, and take the child into protective custody.

Another child with Sana was also taken into custody. The 14-year-old victim was released to family members.

The investigation began in May 2011 when the father came to the U.S. from Bermuda to take custody of his son. The father and boy were in a vehicle when Bayside, who was with Sana, was reported to be carrying a knife and demanding that the boy go with him.

The child was taken into custody. The 14-year-old was charged with resisting an officer without violence.

The boy was taken into protective custody. The investigation is continuing.

The grant will fund the first of several construction phases for the pier at Fort De Soto park. The grant will indeed the first of several construction phases for a new pier and ferry dock and includes design, engineering work, and construction permits. The project has not yet been set for the start of this project. The existing pier will remain open to provide recreational fishing and ferry access to Egmont Key.

Visitors are welcome to enjoy both Fort De Soto Park and Egmont Key National Wildlife Refuge, where they may see threatened gopher tortoises, a wide variety of nesting shorebirds and other sandhills. Scientists have noted the importance of the Bay Pier at Fort De Soto Park.

The funding, provided by the Federal Department of the Interior, and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, will provide a new dock for ferry access to Egmont Key and includes design, engineering and construction permits. The bay pier in Fort De Soto park was established by Congress to enhance the protection of natural parks and lands and includes the improvement of these areas. Adhered by the fisheries and Department of the Interior, the federal government will fund capital and planning expenses for the interstate transportation infrastructure, such as the shuttle buses and bicycle trails, in natural parks and public lands. The goals of the program are to conserve natural, historical and cultural resources, and reduce congestion and pollution.
Volunteer helps fliers make smooth landings

by Bob Crimaldi

Elsie Crimaldi of Gulfport was in the habit of stopping by the Gulfport Air Park and watching the Comets before she retired. It was a habit that had been in the back of her mind for almost 20 years. After almost 20 years she decided it was time to retire. It was during a trip to see a aunt who had a house in Florida first minted her seed. She was looking for a way to keep busy and decided to give the Comets a try. She asked her aunt if she could be part of the team and her aunt said yes. She signed up and is now working for the airport as a volunteer. She answers questions such as: Where is their luggage? Where are the passengers' cars? She has been dealing with passengers, cab drivers, and limousine drivers, and has even been helping people find their way around the airport. She knows if there was ever a time when she was dealing with passengers, cab drivers, or limousine drivers. She believes there's always time to help and has found that it's a rewarding experience. She is now a part of the team and enjoys helping passengers. She is also active in her community, as membership chairwoman for the Gulfport Garden and Bird Club as well as an associate member of the Gulfport Chamber of Commerce. She also works at her church, the Most Holy Name of Jesus Church. Crimaldi encourages others to volunteer, no matter what their age. People of all ages can find a way to help and have fun. She said. Instead of waiting, they should get out and volunteer. It's something that Crimaldi enjoys doing a number of different things. She likes to be helpful and she finds that Crimaldi is willing to do whatever is needed, including assisting passengers, cab drivers, and even new volunteers.

"The history of traffic deaths shows that nearly every state has a Move Over Law. Hawaii, Florida, and Georgia are the only states that do not have a Move Over Law."

"Trooper Dave Rodriguez's motorcycle is on its side in the middle of a highway near Orlando, Jan. 26 in Orlando. According to the FHP report, Rodriguez had just completed a traffic stop and gotten back on his motorcycle, which was parked in the emergency lane with its emergency lights activated. For some unknown reason, the Hyundai Sonata driven by Brittany Mikus, 20, of Orlando left the roadway, traveling onto the emergency lane where Rodriguez was parked roadside with flashing emergency lights. Sonatas and other vehicles often work roadside, the Director of the Motorists Association said. The law violators and others breaking traffic laws. "We urge all law enforcement officers, paramedics and wrecker operators to use caution when working on the roadway. As a reminder, the law requires that motorists slow down when driving on a highway with a speed limit sign, which was also struck by the Sonata, on top of him. Prior to the crash, Rodriguez's motorcycle had been located in the emergency lane with its emergency lights activated. The Sonata driver was cited for failing to move over when passing an emergency vehicle or wrecker stopped on the shoulder of the roadway, the driver must slow down to a speed of 20 mph less than the posted speed limit."

The crash occurred July 25 at 9:55 p.m. on Florida's Move Over Law. The Florida Highway Patrol is investigating the crash to determine the cause of the crash. Rodriguez ended up in the median of the road when he had to take cover behind a tree to avoid a collision with a vehicle. The driver of the Sonata was transported to a hospital with minor injuries. The crash remains under investigation and charges are pending. The Florida Highway Patrol is investigating the crash to determine the cause of the crash. Can start working as a team by better understanding each other. Currently, 230 former Bombers have or are playing in five in national tournaments from 1992 to 2007. Taking home an array of awards over the years. Their A-game.

The group was established in 1989 as a nonprofit organization. The Bombers organization consists of eight teams that travel and compete around Florida and across the country. The league is for girls ages 8 to 18. The softball players range from ages 8 to 18 and come from various parts of the area, as far north as Holiday and as far south as Port Richey. The girls continue in community service. The league hosts a Toys for Tots softball tournament and a softball tournament in the fall of each year.

Grat said. “They are learning friendship and team spirit.” Smithe stressed the importance of fitness and attitude to bring with them on the field as well as the sport and the importance of having a positive mental approach to their A-game.

In 2012, the girls will be playing in various tournaments. McEntire said. Once the girls turn 16, they start looking deeper into developing their skills and discovering what paths they will take after high school. An important part of Bombers is to help girls determine their strengths and weaknesses — things to work on to make their careers as softball players more successful. They are really growing,” Bombers President Troy Grat said. “They are learning freedom and teamwork — it grows these girls.

“Typically, girls that play travel ball are allowed to become leaders because they play in high school,” McEntire said.

Lone beachcomber beats odds

Wholly absorbed, the young beachcomber transfigured and dumbfounded along a stretch of beach, captivated by the sound and sight of gentle waves. I encountered one winter day walking along the shoreline near Destin, Florida. After finding a nice mound of sand that caught my eye, I realized it contained the leftovers of a dolphin carcass. The next day, I returned and dug out the remains, finding only one dolphin. As I have been told by many, this was not what I expected to find.

Full moon should bring good fishing

This week’s full moon should bring better fishing conditions for anglers who are seeking opportunities to catch a variety of species. Experience has shown that full moons tend to result in increased fishing action, particularly for species that are attracted to the surface or that are more active at night. This phenomenon is not only limited to particular species but can extend to a variety of locations, from coastal waters to freshwater lakes.

With the moon now reaching its full phase, anglers can expect to see a noticeable increase in the number of fish biting. This is due to the increased visibility and movement of fish, which are drawn to the surface by the light and movement of water caused by the moon. Additionally, the full moon may also impact the behavior of certain fish species, such as those that are known to be more active at night, leading to a surge in activity and potentially better fishing opportunities. Overall, this week’s full moon should provide anglers with an opportunity to enjoy some excellent fishing conditions, making it a great time to head out on the water and try your luck at catching a variety of species.

Dolphin Watch

YoMan

Welcome to the Weekly Dolphin Report for February 9, 2012.

During our February 2nd dolphin trip, we encountered a lone dolphin in our study area when running through Bora’s way. We were told by one of our volunteers, Dr. Weaver, that lonely dolphins are a rarity in our local waters and days in which we find only one dolphin even rarer. Here, a lone dolphin (Bora) is twice as likely to be a female as a male. However, this is an understandable richness of our local waters.

The communal nature of dolphin schools is so immense that there are roughly equal amounts of faces and/or group associated with each dolphin in its daily activities. For example, the amount of individual dolphins in our study area can be counted. The dolphins or groups of dolphins we observed are not the same as counted in any given day.

While both juvenile and adult dolphins are present in our study area, the overall number of individual dolphins in any given day is substantially reduced in comparison to the number of juvenile dolphins in any given day. Our most recent surveys we’ve completed to date suggest that 62% are males and 38% are females. As we approach this week’s full moon, look for the dolphins to travel without entering the surface. As we approach this week’s full moon, look for the dolphins to travel without entering the surface. Bora systematically searched the surface. This is understandable in its rarity. Synonyms make a solo dolphin day April-July. But they’re a working group of thousands of individual animals. Examples of closed environments suggest Bora had had its shot of individuality. I was able to find out nearly so. It’s the beauty of data!

I’m sure we have long been captivated by the large schools out at sea. It also seems that the size of animal groups is heavily seasonal: 82 percent bulls. I was able to find out exactly the same. Their identities revealed a 2:1 ratio of male to female. These tiny speedsters are more likely to be limited males. Their occurrence is localized enough to call our attention while exploring nature. Participants should meet at the Philippe Park parking lot at 9 a.m.

Trends and turns make it a challenge for large groups of animals to stay in touch, so any sighting of dolphin schools can often be huge, allowing anglers to dial in with a fair amount of success.

February is National Pet Dental Month

It is time to focus on our pet’s teeth this month, but in reality we should be focusing on our pet’s teeth every day. Routine preventive home dental care is essential to maintain your pet’s oral health and overall wellbeing. Good dental care can prevent the development of many problems that can lead to premature death in pets. Preventive dental care includes daily brushing of your pet’s teeth and regular visits to your veterinarian. Several products are available that can help keep your pet’s teeth and gums healthy. The following tips can help you get started:

1. Brushing: Use a pet toothpaste and a soft-bristled toothbrush. Start by gentle massage of the gums, then move to the teeth. Be gentle and avoid forcing the toothbrush through the teeth. Reward your pet for good behavior.

2. Rinses: Use a pet-specific oral rinses to help maintain healthy gums and teeth. Some rinses contain enzymes that help break down plaque and tartar.

3. Brushing: Use a toothbrush with a semi-hard bristle to gently massage the gums and teeth. Be sure to brush all surfaces of the teeth, including the outer surfaces (cheek side) of all teeth.

4. Flossing: Use dental floss or a dental pick to clean between the teeth. This helps to remove plaque and debris that brushing may not reach.

5. Professional Cleanings: Regular professional cleanings by your veterinarian are important to remove tartar buildup. Tartar buildup can lead to gum disease and other oral health issues.

6. Dietary Changes: Feeding a diet that is low in sugar and starch can reduce the risk of dental problems.

7. Check-Ins: Regular check-ins with your veterinarian are crucial to monitor your pet’s oral health and to catch any issues early.

Dentist of the Month

Dentist: Dr. Laura Johnson

Dr. Johnson is a board-certified veterinarian in small animal dentistry. She focuses on diagnosing and treating oral health issues in cats and dogs. Dr. Johnson is committed to providing the best possible care for your furry companion’s oral health.

Pet PSA

“Pet Dental CheckUps are a great way to prevent oral issues in your pet. A regular dental checkup can help identify problems early, before they become more severe. Preventive care is key to maintaining your pet’s overall health.”

Will the Internet kill your free community paper? Did mutual pot-estates kill insurance?

The Internet has become a major force in the world of health care. With the advent of online health care information and resources, patients and healthcare providers alike are turning to the Internet for answers. In this article, we will explore how the Internet is shaping the future of health care and what implications this may have for community newspapers and other traditional news sources.

The Internet has revolutionized how people access health care information. With just a few clicks, patients can find information on a wide range of topics, from common symptoms to rare diseases. This has made it easier for patients to make informed decisions about their health and healthcare options.

In addition to providing information, the Internet has also changed the way healthcare providers interact with patients. Many providers now offer online consultations and second opinions. This has made healthcare more accessible to people who live in rural areas or who have difficulty accessing traditional healthcare services.

Despite these benefits, the Internet has also raised concerns about the accuracy of health care information. With so much information available online, it can be difficult for patients to know what to believe. As a result, many patients turn to their family doctors and pharmacies for guidance.

In this age of information overload, community newspapers play a crucial role in helping people navigate the healthcare landscape. By providing local news and information about healthcare in their communities, newspapers can help patients make informed decisions about their health and healthcare options.

In conclusion, the Internet has transformed the way people access and use health care information. While it has brought many benefits, it has also raised concerns about accuracy and accessibility. By continuing to provide local news and information, community newspapers can play a vital role in helping people navigate this complex landscape.

Let's start by saying that Romney is a shrewd politician who is adept at making the right arguments in the right places. He is a master of the art of political compromise, and he has a knack for finding common ground with people from all sides of the aisle. He is also a skilled communicator, and he is able to connect with voters on a personal level. In short, he is aameleon of sorts, and he is able to adapt and change his message as needed to fit the circumstances.

What's more, Romney has a strong record when it comes to economic policy. He is a strong advocate of free-market principles and has a proven track record of reducing taxes and promoting job creation. He also has a strong record of fighting for the defense of the United States, and he is a strong supporter of our military. In short, he is a man of vision who is able to think outside the box and come up with innovative solutions to complex problems.

In conclusion, Romney is a great choice for President of the United States. He has a proven track record of success in the private sector, and he is a skilled politician who is able to connect with voters on a personal level. He is also a strong advocate of free-market principles and has a proven track record of reducing taxes and promoting job creation. What do to about the Strait of Hormuz?

Jonah Goldberg

Experts Agreed

As Romney’s bus tour rolls into the swing of states, his campaign has hit the headlines with one political misstep after another. But as the campaign drags on, the truth is that Romney is still the clear favorite to win the GOP nomination. And if he wins the nomination, it’s likely he’ll face a tough battle against the Democratic nominee. But even if Romney is victorious, his chances of winning the White House are still slim. So what’s the point of running for the nomination? Why do so many candidates throw their hats into the ring, knowing that they’ll lose? I’ll answer that for you. It’s not because they want to be president. It’s because they want to be president. And the reason they want to be president is that it’s the only way they can win. So the next question is, “What, exactly, is the point of running for the nomination?”

Years ago a friend of mine lost her father to cancer. She lived in South America. The months before he died were some of the toughest of her life. She spoke English, but it was interesting to read his Spanish.

In this light, voting for Romney isn’t a bad idea. In fact, it’s a pretty good idea. If you’re looking for a candidate who is a skilled politician and who is able to connect with voters on a personal level, then Romney is the man for you. He is a man of vision who is able to think outside the box and come up with innovative solutions to complex problems. He is the candidate who is best equipped to lead our country forward in the years ahead.

Surf and Turf Market gets makeover

By WALTER AXEN

HILLCARE SUPPYS — a sluggish economy is not stopping one local business from moving ahead with a major renovation.

Surf and Turf Market on West Bay Drive is undergoing a complete makeover, in both physical appearance and concept.

Everything is on the move, it seems. In going to its a brand new layout, Surf and Turf Market is being transformed into something much more than a traditional neighborhood market.

Further, between January and May, customers will see a stage-by-stage transformation, as Surf and Turf Market is being simplified, updated, and pumped food market into a more modern and production center.

Chef Michael said the emphasis will be on inventiveness, creativity and methods of preparation, using local ingredients, recipes where possible. Customers will be offered a wide selection of ingredients on hand, or be able to select personal meal replacements, ready to grab and go.

Largely, the dominating force behind the concept, and Chef Michael used the term repeatedly in describing his plans. Locally owned and operated, available anytime, will create "the transformation of the meat, produce and gourmet food market into a business from moving ahead with a major renovation.

That includes healthier choices with less fat and a lot less cholesterol.

Michael said, is to "make everybody's life a little easier at home." Open kitchen and open grill where people can pick up food, talk to the chef, and see your friends here. Taste the food we're specializing in, try it, like it, learn about it."

Genre: Science fiction, action and adventure

Cast: Liam Neeson, Ewan McGregor, Natalie Portman, Jake Lloyd, Ray Park, Ahmed Best and Ian McDiarmid

Director: George Lucas and Barry Cook

Running Time: 136 minutes

Synopsis:

When the Trade Federation launches an attack on Naboo, the Jedi Kenobi (McGregor) and Qui-Gon Jinn (Neeson) are called on to intervene in the trade disputes. The seemingly benevolent Senator Palpatine (McDiarmid) is actually Darth Sidious, the leader of the Separatists. Palpatine is using The Clone Wars as a cover to invade the Republic and eventually turn it into an Imperial state.

The seemingly benevolent Senator Palpatine (McDiarmid) is actually Darth Sidious, the leader of the Separatists. Palpatine is using The Clone Wars as a cover to invade the Republic and eventually turn it into an Imperial state.

Darth Sidious (Palpatine) hires a group of clones to help him win the war and take control of the galaxy. These clones are led by the much older and more experienced clone army, with a leader named Captain Rex. The clone army is initially loyal to Palpatine, but eventually begins to question his motives.

Meanwhile, Obi-Wan Kenobi (McGregor) and Qui-Gon Jinn (Neeson) are on a mission to rescue the young Anakin Skywalker (Ewan McGregor) from the Jedi Temple on Naboo. Anakin is a clone pilot who has been captured by the Trade Federation and used as a weapon against the Jedi. Kenobi and Qui-Gon rescue Anakin and bring him back to the Jedi Temple on Naboo. Kenobi and Qui-Gon then go on a mission to rescue Qui-Gon's apprentice, young Obi-Wan Kenobi (Neeson), who has been captured by the Trade Federation.

While on this mission, Kenobi and Qui-Gon are captured by the Trade Federation and taken to their ship, the Nebulon B. Kenobi and Qui-Gon are able to escape the ship, but Kenobi is injured in the process.

The Daedalus Quartet promises to deliver a performance that will leave audiences breathless.

By Leila Clark-Zurin

The Daedalus Quartet will perform Saturday, Feb. 18, at Clearwater’s Capitol Theatre. The concert, part of the Capitol Theatre’s Clearwater Valve Chamber Music Series, will begin at 8 p.m.

The quartet’s third CD, “Insects and Paper Airplanes,” which includes music of American composers Claude Debussy, Philip Glass and Steve Reich, was released on Bridge Records in 2008.

For this performance, the Daedalus Quartet will perform Schubert’s String Quartet in F major, D 800, which was completed in 1816, and Ravel’s String Quartet in F major, M. 19, which was composed in 1902-03.

A concert ticket for the 8 p.m. performance will cost $35, $25 for seniors and $20 for students. Children are free. For tickets and information, call the Capitol Theatre’s box office at 727-735-5791 or visit www.captivetheatre.com.

The Daedalus Quartet holds degrees from the Juilliard School, Curtis Institute and Harvard University.

The ensemble has traveled over the world, performing at leading festivals and colleges such as Lincoln Center, the Library of Congress, the Carnegie Hall in New York, the Centre Culturel in Amsterdam, the Cité de la Musique in Paris, and in leading venues in Japan.

The Daedalus Quartet’s 2008 debut recording featured masterstrokes from three of the early 19th century’s greatest composers – Beethoven, Schubert and Ravel. Available on Bridge Records, the CD’s tracklist includes: "Choral Symphony," "String Quartet in F major" and "String Quartet in B-flat major." The quartet is known for its "extraordinary" string rework the interior of PODS containers; and participating in the food truck rally will be Ballers Traveling Bistro, FoodeeZ Mobile Catering, La Creperia Café with crepes to go, Michelle Faedo’s

Also available from Bridge Records is the quartet’s 2010 CD, "Hungarian String Quartet," which together the second and third quartets, and "Hungarian String Quartet Cycle." The quartet is part of a series of recordings of the 19th century’s greatest composers – Sibelius, Stravinsky and Ravel. Available on Bridge Records, the CD’s tracklist includes: "Hungarian String Quartet," "Jean Sibelius: String Quartet in D minor, Op. 130," and "Maurice Ravel: String Quartet in F major (1902-03)."

On stage, the ensemble has been described as "a major force" by Piano Quarterly magazine. Coda: of a kind of "sensibility," as one New York "New York" artists described it, the quintet of the Daedalus Quartet promises to deliver a performance that will leave audiences breathless.

In the past year, the ensemble has performed at the Bardolph Vail Festival, the Bardolino Music Festival, the Manchester Music Festival of Lincoln Center, the Philadelphia Chamber Music Society Great Performances at Lincoln Center, the Miller Theatre at Columbia University, the Royal College of Art, Oxford University, the Tate Center for the Performing Arts, the Amsterdam Concerts Society, the Miami Chamber Music Society, and the Arts Council of New York.
