REQUEST TO REPRODUCE EXISTING DIVISIONAL MATERIALS
According to Yale University’s policy on open access for digital representations of works in the public domain from Yale’s museum, library and archive collections, Yale University will not restrict use of images digitized from its museums, libraries and archives collections that have been made openly available through the University’s electronic interfaces, and which are no longer under copyright, except where other rights or restrictions apply (as indicated below, if appropriate; see Terms and Conditions).

Materials requested:

[ ] Images [ ] Text [ ] Data

Usage:

[ ] Research [ ] Journal article [ ] Conference presentation [ ] Database

[ ] Exhibition [ ] Textbook [ ] Classroom teaching [ ] Student coursework

[ ] Visual Arts [ ] Web/Multimedia [ ] Other [ ] Dissertation

Restrictions: none

Please send to the Division at least one copy of the final publication containing the reproduced materials.

DESCRIBE YOUR PROJECT

List the materials requested, including catalog numbers as applicable (attach pages as needed):

The following figures are requested from Willey, Gordon R. 1949. Excavations in Southeast Florida. Yale University Publications in Anthropology Number 42. Yale University Press, New Haven.

Plate 8, Plate 9, Plate 12, Plate 13, Figure 6, and Figure 7.

With the exception of Figure 7, the figures will be cropped to include only certain artifacts for use as aids in discussion of these artifact types.

If you use or reproduce Yale Peabody Museum materials in any format, we ask that you provide attribution to the Yale Peabody Museum, including catalog numbers (use the format: YPM PREFIX 123456), and cite the author and source as you would material from any printed work. The following credit line is preferred:

[Description ], [YPM PREFIX 123456]. Courtesy of the Division of [division name] ; Peabody Museum of Natural History, Yale University; peabody.yale.edu. Photography by [photographer name(s)].
The Yale Peabody Museum of Natural History (“YPM”) grants permission to the undersigned to photograph or scan, on the date and at the location indicated here, the materials named in this agreement (“Images”), for the usage indicated. A YPM staff member must be present during the entire photography session. You shall use your own equipment, which must be set up in a way that does not create safety hazards or damage Yale University property. A full set of high resolution versions of the Images in an acceptable format must be provided to the Division within 30 days of the date of the photography.

To make YPM digital assets available to the widest possible audience under the Yale University open access policy, YPM requests that you transfer your copyright in the Images to YPM, so that the Images can be made available to researchers, educators, students and visitors. If you choose not to transfer copyright, YPM would like your permission to use the Images for its own nonprofit activities. YPM agrees to include an acknowledgment of your authorship in the Images with each use.

For existing materials not governed by the Yale University’s policy on open access for digital assets from Yale’s museum, library and archive collections, YPM grants to the undersigned the nonexclusive, nontransferable right to reproduce the materials indicated in this agreement for the usage indicated, subject to any restrictions noted in this agreement.

Please initial inside the appropriate checkbox.

Permission to Photograph in the Collections with Copyright Transfer

[ ] I grant and assign to the Peabody Museum of Natural History, Yale University, the entire copyright and associated and subsidiary rights, including rights in all renewals and extensions of copyright, in these Images, including the right to make them available to third parties. I agree that no monetary compensation will be provided by YPM to me for this assignment of copyright, for reproduction rights granted to third parties, or for any other licenses that YPM may grant for the use of the Images.

Permission to Photograph in the Collections without Copyright Transfer

[ ] I grant to the Peabody Museum of Natural History, Yale University, the nonexclusive unrestricted right in perpetuity to reproduce, store and distribute these Images, in any media, for YPM’s internal noncommercial research, educational and promotional activities, subject to the restrictions below, if any. In my own use of the Images, I agree to provide attribution to YPM to accompany any reproduction of the Images.

Special instructions:

Permission to Reproduce Existing Divisional Materials (complete as applicable)

[ ] I agree that permission to reproduce the materials indicated in this agreement is granted only for the usage indicated, and I also agree to apply for further permission from YPM for any other use, including third party use or publication, in any media, including incorporation of collections data, text or images into derivative data sets. I agree to provide attribution to YPM to accompany any reproduction of the Images.

Contribution: Materializing Ontology in Monumental Form: Engaging the Ontological in the Okeechobee Basin, Florida

To: Nathan R. Lawres

The University of New Mexico (“the University”), acting through the University of Chicago Press (“the Press”), is pleased to consider for publication your contribution identified above (“the Contribution”), in its journal (“the Journal”), Journal of Anthropological Research.

In consideration of the publication of your Contribution, we ask you to assign the copyright to the University, thus granting us all rights in the Contribution. The University, in turn, grants to you as author several rights described herein and in the Guidelines for Journal Authors’ Rights available on the Web site of the Press (as in effect from time to time, the “Guidelines”). The Press may amend the Guidelines at any time with or without notice to you, and your rights in the Contribution shall be governed by this agreement and the Guidelines in effect at the time of your proposed use. You will receive no monetary compensation from the University for the assignment of copyright and publication of the Contribution. By signing below, you and the University agree as follows:

Copyright Assignment:
The University undertakes to publish the Contribution, subject to approval by the editor(s), in its Journal named above. In consideration of such publication, you hereby grant and assign to the University the entire copyright in the Contribution, including any and all rights of whatever kind or nature now or hereafter protected by the copyright laws of the United States and of all foreign countries, in all languages and forms of communication. It is understood that the copyright to the Contribution has not been registered with the Library of Congress, but that in the event such registration has taken place you will promptly transfer the copyright registration to the University. If the Contribution is deemed unacceptable for Publication, you will be notified and all rights will revert to you.

Grant of Rights to Author:
The University grants to you the following non-exclusive rights, subject to your giving proper credit to the original publication of the Contribution in the Journal, including reproducing the exact copyright notice as it appears in the Journal:

(i) to reprint the Contribution, in whole or in part, in any book, article, or other scholarly work of which you are the author or editor,
(ii) to use the Contribution for teaching purposes in your classes, including making multiple copies for all students, either as individual copies or as part of a printed course pack, provided that these are to be used solely for classes you teach,
(iii) to post a copy of the Contribution on your personal or institutional Web server, provided that the server is non-commercial and there are no charges for access, and
(iv) to deposit a copy of the Contribution in a non-commercial data repository maintained by an institution of which you are a member, after the embargo period identified in the Guidelines and provided all relevant conditions described in the Guidelines have been met.

The rights granted in clauses (i) and (ii) above are intended to benefit the original creators of the Contribution only. Accordingly, if you claim ownership of or rights in the Contribution because it was created by your employee or as a work made for hire, as defined in the Copyright Act, the rights granted in clauses (i) and (ii) above shall not apply to you, and you must contact the Press for permission to make these uses.

Warranties and Indemnifications:
You warrant to the University as follows:

(i) that the Contribution is your original work;
(ii) that it contains no matter which is defamatory or is otherwise unlawful or which invades rights of privacy or publicity or infringes any proprietary right (including copyright);
(iii) that you have the right to assign the copyright to the University and that no portion of the copyright to the Contribution has been assigned previously; and
(iv) that the Contribution has not been published elsewhere in whole or in part (except as may be set out in a rider annexed hereto and signed by the University) and that no agreement to publish is outstanding other than this agreement.

You agree to indemnify and hold the University harmless against any claim arising from or related to the breach or inaccuracy of any of the warranties listed above.

Requirements for Publication:
You agree to prepare and revise the Contribution according to the instructions of the editor(s) and to meet all other requirements for publication communicated to you by the editor(s) or the Press. It is your responsibility to determine whether the Contribution includes material that requires written permission for publication in the Journal, including any material that is supplementary or ancillary to the Contribution; to obtain such permission, at your own expense, from the copyright owner; and to submit that permission to the editor(s) with the manuscript.

Please complete, sign, and date this agreement, and return it to the editor(s) by mail, fax, or email, retaining a copy for your files. An electronic signature may be used. You agree that an electronic signature shall be valid and binding for all purposes, and hereby waive any objection to use of an electronic version of this agreement as a substitute for the original for any legally recognized purpose. All joint authors must sign, each on a separate form if necessary.
